

CALL FOR ART

Groundbreakers: Turning the Earth

“Groundbreakers: Turning the Earth” celebrate how individuals create positive change through art. We are inspired by the legacy of Ulysses Cephas, a remarkable blacksmith, inventor, a community leader from San Marcos, Texas. The exhibit will take place November 12-19, 2024.

We are looking for art that honors the stories of past/present generations and reflects on how people are driving change and shaping the future, highlighting community, creativity, and courage.

All visual art forms welcome
Pieces no bigger than 2 x 3 ft

Drop off Deadline
Nov. 5-8th, 2024.

Submission Cutoff: Nov 8th

How does your art conceptually or figuratively symbolize or engage with the

- care and effort required to build strong, supportive communities through the metaphors of breaking ground, planting, plowing, and/or gardening?

How does your art celebrate the diversity of experiences, identities,

- and voices within different communities, with a special emphasis on underrepresented and marginalized stories?
